- The property was placed on the National Register _____

Placement on the National Register affords a property the honor of inclusion in the nation's official list of cultural resources worthy of preservation and provides a degree of protection from adverse effects resulting from federally funded or licensed projects. Registration provides a number of incentives for preservation of historic properties, including special building codes to facilitate the restoration of historic structures, federally guaranteed loans for the rehabilitating of residential properties, grants for restoration, and certain tax advantages. There are no restrictions placed upon a private property owner with regard to normal use, maintenance, or sale of a property listed in the National Register; however, proposals to demolish registered properties may require a standard review in compliance with local ordinances or the California Environmental Quality Act. In addition, certain provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1976 relate directly to the demolition and replacement of structures listed in the National Register.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Knox Mellon
State Historic Preservation Officer
