

Grandma Prisbrey's Bottle Village still exists, even after the earthquake, even after it's tenth year of no major public or private endowment. Compare this to Simon Rodia's Watt's Towers, now into it's third million dollars in restoration endowments.

Special Federal funds designated for earthquake needs give chance that Bottle Village receives necessary emergency stabilization or maybe even complete restoration. This according to Bud Goldstone, Structural Engineer for Watt's Towers and Zuleyma Aguirre, Fine Arts Conservator for Watt's Towers. Both will be working in the same capacity for Bottle Village- IF funding request for Community Block Grants are approved by the City Council of the City of Simi Valley, this coming Monday, May 23rd. Grandma Prisbrey's Bottle Village needs a strong show of support if this is to happen.
