Dear Ruth,

Nice talking to you after these many years.

Here are some photos of "Old Trapper" - John Ehn's work. The family is going to finish the documentation and more pictures will be coming.

For the moment you can use the numbers on the photos to match up with the not yet quite done inventory. The numbers will eventually be changed.

I had hoped to send you the completed package of photos and inventory — but I want you to get a sense of what is available so you can decide if you can come to Los Angeles or delegate someone else to choose some pieces. The museum people who have seen the collection made A & B lists in case there is some overlap.

The family would also like to talk to the various institutions about the enclosed draft agreement. They donated the large outdoor sculptures (shown in the magazine story I included) to a local college without an agreement and were stung.

I've explained to the family how busy you are and they will try to keep the selection process open as long as possible. Perhaps you can schedule a number of events to warrant a trip West.

I hope the enclosed materials will be useful to you.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Seymour Rosen
